Problems and Issues in Elementary Education

DERABISH COLLEGE
KENDRAPARA
ESTD-1981

ABSTRACT WITHIN 100 WORDS (162-223)

Education has a significant role in the development of the personality of the child. The constitution of India clearly states that elementary education is a fundamental right of children in the age of 6-14 years. In order to meet the demands of the growing population. Two-third of the children of the school-going age are admitted to schools. But the reality of the situation is that most of them leave school halfway or do not attend regularly. So, even though the government is trying its best to uphold basic education for all, some issues remain unsolved. The primary education is considered as the spring board for latter education. This article presents some of the common issues of primary education in India. There are some important problems and issues in elementary education ~~such as~~ discussed in this paper such as political problems, neglect of education by the foreign rules, and lack of practical knowledge in administrative policies.

Role of Ethnobotany on Indian Society: A Review

Dr. Kanica Chauhan

CH&F, Jhalawar, Rajasthan
E-mail: kanicachauhan@gmail.com

Abstract—Ethno botany, the research field of science, has been widely used in documenting the indigenous knowledge of using plants and providing an inventory of useful plants from local ethnic people. Plants that are used as traditional herbal medicine in different countries are an important part of these studies. However, in some countries, ethno botanical studies have been used for the discovery of new medicinal uses and development of pharmaceutical industry. In general, experiences gained from ethno botanical approaches of traditional medicinal studies in China and Himalayan countries have helped in new drug development. At the same time, in many cases, over-harvesting, degradation of medicinal plants, and loss of indigenous traditional knowledge from local communities are common problems in these resource areas. Issues of indigenous knowledge, intellectual property rights, and uncontrolled transboundary trade in medicinal plants occur frequently in the region. This paper reviews the role of ethno botanical approaches of traditional medicinal studies, in reference to the society, with an emphasis on the conservation of traditional medical knowledge and medical plant resource. In recent era, the investigation onethnobotany to fulfill the increasing demand of plant artifacts and herbal products. It has been reported that about 20,000 plant species are found in Indian flora having different medicinal properties and more than this have other ethnobotanical importance. Of which about 7% are on the verge of extinction. According to the recent findings of Botanical Survey of India (BSI) over 300 species ofangiosperms are under threat of extinction. Therefore it is essential to investigate such plants from different unexplored regions and collect the indigenous knowledge regarding their utilities.

1. INTRODUCTION

India is a vast country with a variety of topographies, climates, vegetation, and people.

In India, theethnobotany can be divided into two groups of people, i.e. those living in small cities or rural villages and tribal peoples who live in remote villages. The population of India is approximately 102 million, out of which about 50 million people belong to 550 tribal communities or aboriginals. There are 325 total languages with a large number of dialects spoken within the country, of which 18 are official including English, Sanskrit, and Urdu.

In Asia, there are various written accounts which testify to the usefulness of himalayan herbs for medicinal purposes. Perhaps the earliest use of herbal plants was documented in the Vedas in about 4500 to 600 B.C. which represents the oldest repository of human knowledge, and comprises 67 plant species. Ayurveda (a traditional medicine system practiced widely in India and Nepal) provides further details for the therapeutic use of more than herbal drugs (Manabdhar, 1980). In China, Sheng-Nongs Herbal book is suggested to be one of the earliest source of folk knowledge on the use of herbals; it comprises 365 plants, animals, and minerals used as medication from the period of Sheng-Nong (3000 B.C.) (Pei, 1987). Recent studies on Tibetan medicine have shown that the earliest literature on Tibetan medicine was in the eighth century A.D. (Yang, 1988). The system of Unani Medicine in South and West Asia also has very long tradition and is being practiced in different countries. In Asian countries, it is evident from the ancient literature as well as scientific record of ITK that plants are the important source of medicinal system and also in the health care of humans.

It has also been evidenced from China that Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) includes 11,146 species, of which492 species are cultivated and the remaining 10,654 species are wild plants (SEPA, 1997). According to the World Health Organization (WHO), more than 80% of the world's population relies on traditional herbal medicine for their primary health care needs (Inglis, 1994). These valuable herbal traditions found in developing countries have always been considered an important component of the cultural heritage of the world. This indigenous knowledge about medicinal plants has been used for time immemorial for healing process.

Ethnobotany and Society

There has been tremendous transition in the economies from subsistence to market-based in over last quarter century which have created a serious impact on overall aspects of traditional medical systems by affecting indigenous medicines, resource data base and environment. Over-harvesting of medicinal plants and animal species haveresulted in exploitation, loss of biodiversity, and the loss of indigenous medical knowledge and traditions. This lead to a breakdown of traditional medical systems. Moreover, the exploitation of traditional herbal medicine for the creation and development of new drugs for allopathic treatments which reduces the demand of traditional medicine.

Banking sector crisis in America- it's impact on Indian Economy

Abstract :

Fearing the brutal recession that ensued during the lockdown would be similar to that of The Great Recession of 2007-2009, the U.S. Fed and Government brought about some changes that led to the economy staging an unexpected recovery instead of a prolonged downturn such as

1. Government Aid Infusion
2. Emergency Intervention by Fed by slashing interest rates
3. Joe Biden's $1.9 Trillion Covid Relief Packages with $1400 in cash disbursed to most of the households which increased the purchasing power parity to a large extent in consumer households

This led to businesses struggling to meet demand, inadequate labour forces, insufficient supplies due to high costs which was ultimately thrusted on the consumer leading to the pressure valve called Inflation.

While the Fed Reserve thought the sudden spike in inflation would be transitory, it has glued on like a leech for a long time.

And thus commenced The Great American Banking Crisis with the fall of Silicon Valley Bank, Signature Bank and the recent First Republic Bank

The Banking Crisis

The fall of these U.S. Banks can be related to that of the Domino Effect. Following is the summary of the major reasons leading to the fall of these banks

Silicon Valley Bank

Due to major slashing of interest rates, huge sums of money were infused into start-ups by Venture Capitalists and PE firms which were parked as deposits in the start up darling, SVB, additionally, the bank was also paying higher than industry average interest rates.Although the deposits tripled, loans only doubled due to abundance of money leading to a classic Asset Liability mismatch Majority of these surplus funds, instead of being invested in short term government bonds ensuring liquidity were greedily infused in long term government bonds with higher yield. A large chunk of these investments were classified under the Held To Maturity (i.e. HTM) category. Hence, as fed fund rates rose, yield curve inversion transpired leading to major fall in bond prices which in turn lead to large amount of notional loss.Normally, this wouldn't be a problem, as this is just a paper loss but due to the Silvergate affair, startup winter arrived leading to VC's tapping out money and hence, all the investments had to be immediately liquidated at losses to calm down the storm of bank runs.

Principal
DERABISH COLLEGE

Signature Bank

Even though this bank was America's 19th Largest Bank dealing with HNI's in real estate, law, cryptocurrencies, including being associated with the Trump organisation company, the bank could not withstand the contagion effect after the collapse of SVB bank.

While one of the main reasons were 90% of uninsured deposits, liquidity risk and lack of FDIC Oversight, various sources also reveal that regulators just took over it to serve as a warning of U.S. Banks to avoid cryptocurrency dealings.

First Republic Bank

Apart from exposure to uninsured deposits (almost 2/3rd of deposits) and the contagion effect, the bank also had an unusually large Loan to deposit ratio of 111%.

What next for the US Economy?

While the US Fed fund rates are at a 16 year high and the Fed Chairman hints at anticipating further rate increases, the World Economic Forum predicts that the Fed Reserve will hold steady for the rest of 2023 after the 25bps hike in May which can also lead to a short and shallow recession this year.

ne stress in midsized banks can be is a liquidity shock and not solvency concern.

While the FDIC has ensured that all the deposits will be repaid back to depositors over and above the standard limit of $2,50,000 and no losses will be borne by taxpayers, the Fed strongly believes that the banks that collapsed were outlier banks and the banking system is quite robust.

Impact on India

While the banking indices are facing selling pressure which could lead to further depreciation of the Rupee, the tedious yet robust framework designed by RBI ensures that Indian Banks cannot be easily affected by such situations.The liquidity coverage ratio introduced by RBI ensures bank holds ample, high quality assets to get through stressed funding situations such as deposit runs.The capital adequacy ratio maintained by Indian Banks is also very prudent, the ratios maintained by Indian banks are higher than the recommended Basel III Norms .Apart from this, among institutional categories, over 60% deposits in Indian Banks are held by the household sector. This means that a large sum of deposit money is sticky money which are not prone to flights of despair like that of SVB Bank More importantly, there is only small portion of deposits set aside for investments in Indian banks due to the large loan to deposits ratio.While the HTM securities are measured at amortized cost, reflecting no notional losses on paper, on a prudent basis, Indian Banks also set aside a portion of their profits earned from AFS and HFT securities into investment fluctuation reserves.RBI also mandates disclosing the Asset Liability Management (ALM) System which gives us a fair idea on the likely mismatches.Due to the proactive risk management by RBI all the banking parameters seem to be very healthy.The positive indicators like constant expansion in net interest margins, significant improvement in asset quality with Net NPA contracting to a decade low, consequential credit growth also give fair idea of isolation of the Indian financial system to the ongoing financial crisis.Apart from the obvious investment sentiment getting hurt, there seems to be no domino effect.

6. Abstract of the paper -

Classical dynamics is traditionally treated as an early stage in the development of physics. It is also treated as a subject on its own as well as a research frontier. The essential principles and theories of classical dynamics are presented by our degree students such as

(1.) Constraints – The limitation or the restrictions on the motion of a particle or system of a particles. classification of Constraints :-
a) (i) scleronomic (ii) Rheonomic b) (i) Holonomic (ii) Non-holonomic.

(2.) Lagrange's Equation of motion in cylindrical and spherical Polar Co-ordinate.

(3) Generalised expression for velocity, force and displacement with D'Alembert Principle. Another topic is also presented by our degree students, which is given as

(1) Understanding the magnetic properties of materials :-
(i) Comprehensive overview of Diamagnetic, Paramagnetic and Ferro-magnetic Substances.
(ii) Magnetic theory of electrons present in the atom.
(iii) Different terms connected in magnetism.

Role of Teacher Education at Secondary Level

ABSTRACT WITHIN 100 WORDS (16.04.2022)

Teachers at the secondary Level play a ~~that~~ crucial role in shaping students' academic and personal development. They not only impart subject knowledge but also guide students in developing critical thinking, problem solving skills and strong work ethic. Additionally, teachers serve as mentors, offering support and encouragment during ~~a~~ a pivotal stage of adolescent growth. Their ability to create a positive learning environment and foster a passion for learning can significantly influence students' future success. The role of teachers in secondary education is multifaceted and pivotal in shaping the academic, personal and ~~so~~ social development of students during a crucial phase of their lives. They play a key role in cultivating critical thinking skills, fostering a love for learning and providing guidance on academic and ~~cultural~~ career pathways. Additionally, teachers contribute to the emotional well-being of students, in-still values and promote essential like skills.

ABSTRACT WITHIN 100 WORDS

State and Citizenship in Indian Context :

Citizenship is the status of a person recognised under law as being a legal member of a Sovereign state or belonging to a nation. State approves citizenship. Citizenship is natural and in some cases it is aquired. Article 5-11 of the Constitution deals with the concept of citizenship. Indian citizenship can be aquired by birth, descent, registration and naturalization. Article 5 states citizenship is granted to all persons who are born and raised in India. Even people who were domiciled in India but not born there, yet had one of their parents born were considered citizens. A citizen is a participatory member of a political community. Citizenship is gained by meeting the legal requirements of a national, state or local Govt. A nation grants certain rights and Privileges to its citizens.

Abstract:

Ashoka has been identified in the World history as one of the greatest ruler who not only gave breathing space to the relics of Buddhism but unconditionally raised the establishment of various Buddhist sites in many parts of the subcontinent. This builds up the statement that Ashoka build up these sites to set a mark as an devout upasaka. We get various proclaims of his faith in Buddhism in numerous edicts and inscriptions. Like in minor Rock Edict 1 he speaks "A little over two and a half years he passed since I have avowedly become a Sakya [a lay follower of the Buddha]. It's now more than a year since the Sangha has been intimately associated with me and I have been exerting myself in the cause of the Dharma. It was overwhelming to observe that Ashoka had a close proximity to Buddhism and inscriptions decipher this truth. In the inscriptions, Ashoka was called as DevanampiyaPiyadassi raja, the beloved of the Gods. Ashoka in seldom note used his personal name whereas in general he referred himself by the above little on comparative basis with the Buddhist chronicles of Ceylon.This was done with a deliberate attempt to sanctify his name and portion among the masses. The edicts of his time justifies him as a Buddhist and Buddhist sources from Ceylon, Tibet and China contains detailed accounts of the life of Ashoka. We get numerous instances from his 3rd, 4th, 11th Rock edicts and 7th pillar edicts where he specially talks about promoting kindness towards animal lives. In his Rock edicts he gives very specific commands not to slaughter living creatures for serving sacrifices. In these Rock edicts he further talks about that "how Hundreds-Thousands of living beings have been slaughtered everyday in the kitchen for curry; though only three living creatures were killed daily for curry and they were two birds and one animal. This practice was questioned elaboratively and stoppage to it was necessitated to serve in future".Ashoka reiterated the notion that only by adopting conquest by the Dhamma one can foster the belief of non-violence. The other important tenets of his Dhamma policy weretoleration which was very much visible from his actions and behaviour with other religious. It was in this pretext, he extended his Royal Patronage to all sects whether it was a grant to Ajivikas or Buddhist and so on. We get illuminations of this principle from 7th Rock Edict and 12th Rock Edicts. This illumination has been rightly stated by RomilaThapar as well. She states it as the principle of toleration was not about passive co-existence but as a frame of active mind which opens gates for further discussions but puts a figure on any kind of offence." AshokasDhamma policies had deep impact on it from the ritualistic side of Buddhism which has close associationwith the images of popular cults such as Tree-Worship and fertility cults to develop close association in daily lives. This shows that principle of Dhamma were acceptable to all and welcoming for all sections of the society. Ashokas Dhamma policy was not only a religious policy but a policy of moral and social code of conduct. This policy comprised a code of duties, charter of civic virtues and social morality.

Seminar Abstract.

All over the country, due to increase in population pressure on natural resources, particularly land increases causing problems of sub-division and fragmentation of land holdings, making them uneconomics.So a gradual reduction in activities of the rural industries and handicraft due to industrial revolution has given rise to uneven economic development, Therefore a topic of direct interest to the Demographers & Sociologist, as it affects the distribution,structure and character in our country. So the people migrated from low economic opportunity area to high economic opportunity area. The labourers engaged in unorganized sectors in cities like, road construction, Rail way work, factories, building, costruction,painting, Plumbering, sanitation and other works, having close relation with family members .As most of the labourers in unorganized sector are unskilled the income scale is very poor. So vast majority informal or unorganized workers sustainable life is in disastrous condition.

Covid-19 has taken the world by storm, the virus along with the lockdown, had a disastrous effects on the economy, is heading towards a double digit pluge while the cases skyrocket. Although the impact on the economy is widespeared,the unorganized sector has suffere most,companies,Government,People and non-profits are play essential and effective role in implementing a human oriented system minded approach that encourages shared workforce flexibility. It needs the progress of determined potential and arrangement over stakeholders group,

Impact in unorganized sector.

The unorganized sector consists of unincorporated enterprise owned by individuals and household in the productions and sales of good and services with less than 10% of employees. The pandemic severely impact the following industries.

Migrant workers and the Labour Force.

According to 2018-19 data 52% of the labour force is self-employed 24% were casual workers without any financial security and the remaining 24% were regular waged workers, most of the migrants are casual workers or daily wage workers, with the lockdown in effect, many were jobless, the ILO predicted that that pandemic would push 400 million workers to poverty their pathetic situations forced the migrants to return to their village, without money, food,& transportations many migrants either worked or cycled on their return.

Food and Agriculture.

It constitutes 16.05% in the GDP, the highest by any industry 43% of the total workforce of the country is employed in agriculture. The mobility to supply the harvest goods, along with failure to repay existing loans further increase losses.

Fishing.

Around 14 million people and contributes1.11 in the GDP 80% of the total employed are small scale fisherman.Redused export have severely impact the fishing and other allied industries.

Restaurant service.

Short term Remedies.

The Central and state govt. worked together to alleviate the situations and introduced a slow of remedies like crops, insurance, subsidies, agricultural credit & benefits under MGNREGA (2005)

Measures announced by Government.

01.In the agricultural sector.

It significantly improve profit by eliminating the middle man, contract farming connects the consumers and farmers with their needs and the farmers with their needs and farmers supply them with the produce.

For migrant labour market.

Implementations of one nation one ration card will alow the migrant workers to acess food in the working states.

Suggestion and Remedies.

01. Alternative Markets.

Introducing better transportation facilities will ensure that quality products will reach the location faster. Adopting modern infrastructure will increase quality and quantity of the stored procedure.

02. Restoring APMC (Agricultural Produce Market Committee.

There is an immediate need to restructure the APMC, replace it with direct purchase from FPOs (Farmer Producer Organization) as it is more efficient and effective.

03. Strengthening digital infrastructure.

The majority of jandhan accounts are not even fuctional,there is a deficiency in the number of banks in rural areas, stopping the digital divide is necessary for a rebound.

04.Better implementations of the unorganized workers social security Act. 2008.

Lack of poor connection between the centre and the states caused many hardship during the lockdown. They should work together to ensure uniform distributions of food through the PDS.

Ensuring better and health security.

The Govt. must take measures to improve the livelihood of its citizens. The development of any country depends on the standard of living of its citizens.

Conclusion.

The pandemic has caused a significant impact on the unorganized sector. The government was quick respond but the scale of the damage was large. Radical change and inclusive legislatures with strigent enforcement could help remedy the situation.

5. Abstract of the Paper : Ultraviolet-visible spectroscopy is one of the analytical and characterisation techniques. There is a linear relationship between absorbance and absorber concentration. The UV-VIS spectral range is approximately 190-900nm. UV and visible photons are energetic enough to promote electrons to higher energy states in the molecules and materials. It is useful for the exploration of the electronic properties of materials.

6. Abstract of the paper-

Electronic toll collection (ETC) revolutionizes transportation infrastructure by streamlining toll payment processes through automated, electronic means. Traditionally, toll collection relied on manual methods, causing congestion, delays, and environmental pollution. ETC systems eliminate the need for toll booths, allowing vehicles to pass seamlessly through toll plazas without stopping, thereby improving traffic flow and reducing carbon emissions.

ETC systems employ various technologies, including radio-frequency identification (RFID), dedicated short-range communication (DSRC), and automatic number plate recognition (ANPR). RFID tags or transponders installed in vehicles communicate with sensors or gantries positioned at toll collection points, enabling swift and accurate toll payment transactions. Alternatively, ANPR systems capture vehicle license plate information, associating it with registered accounts for toll payment processing.

The benefits of ETC extend beyond traffic efficiency and environmental sustainability. By reducing traffic congestion and travel times, ETC enhances road safety and reduces fuel consumption and vehicle emissions. Moreover, ETC systems streamline toll administration, minimizing operational costs and improving revenue collection accuracy for transportation authorities.

The widespread adoption of ETC systems has spurred interoperability initiatives, aiming to enable seamless toll payment across different regions and transportation networks. Interoperable ETC systems allow travelers to use a single transponder or account for toll payments, regardless of the toll road or agency, enhancing convenience and promoting interregional connectivity.

While ETC offers numerous advantages, challenges such as privacy concerns, cybersecurity risks, and equitable access must be addressed. Ensuring data protection and privacy safeguards, implementing robust cybersecurity measures, and designing inclusive systems are critical for the sustainable advancement of electronic toll collection.

Principal
DERABISH COLLEGE

In conclusion, electronic toll collection represents a transformative advancement in transportation management, offering myriad benefits including enhanced traffic flow, environmental sustainability, and operational efficiency. Addressing associated challenges is essential to realizing the full potential of ETC in shaping the future of mobility.

Abstract of the Paper

Cancer is a complex group of diseases characterized by the uncontrolled growth and spread of abnormal cells. Cancer can vary widely in terms of their genetic and molecular characteristics, site of origin and response to treatment. This heterogeneity requires a personalized approach to cancer diagnosis and management. The revolution in cancer treatment is being driven by advances in genomics, immunotherapy, targeted therapies and precision medicine. Genomic profiling allows for the identification of specific genetic mutations and alterations in tumors, enabling targeted therapies that inhibit the function of particular oncogenes or proteins involved in cancer progression. Additionally, early detection and screening programs play a vital role in improving survival rates. Ongoing research into cancer stem cells, drug resistance and the tumor micro-environment is expected to yield new insights and innovative treatment strategies.

Understanding Different Perspectives of Democracy

Democracy is a system of Govt. in which laws, policies, leadership and major understandings of a state or other polity are directly or indirectly decided by the people. Government decides all the things for the interest of the people. In a democracy there must be a free and fair election where those currently in power have a fair chance of losing. In this system the state power is vested in the people or the general populati of a State. Since "democracy" can be understood in different ways, with some wider standings closer to and some further from that status quo and social status. Democracy is first and foremost the possibility of peaceful change of power for a given Society. The division of powers, the system of checks and balances and even the entire toolbox of the rule of law and in democracy freedom of press, individual liberty, equality before law strengthen the democracy.

Abstract-

Gandhi was a staunch believer in truth. In fact, the very naming of his autobiography, "My Experiments with Truth" reflects his life-long observance and experimentation with the truth. Another important philosophy he promoted was that of Non- violence. His full political strategy was based on this. He was completely against the use of violence in achieving one's goal. This is an important principle put forward by Gandhi as it helped to avoid bloodshed in various pursuits. Mahatma Gandhi's five pillars of nonviolence: respect, understanding, acceptance, appreciation, and compassion are basic to our existence.

But coming to the present times, does the Gandhian message still has or could have the actuality in managing our century's real-life challenges. Today, world problems are not limited to internal conflicts and matters. Issues like border management, environmental problems, nuclear issues, or the deepening moral crisis of humanity, etc. We are living in a world that is divided increasingly day by day by global unrest, fear, anger, hatred, discontent, despair, immorality, etc., and the number and intensity of ethnic and religious conflicts seem to grow, gaining higher and higher intensity all around the world. Past examples have proved that war and violent ways to resolve such conflicts are not always a good idea. It will lead to bloodshed and a loss of human life and resources and slow down the process of our development.

Macro economics instability in India-An overview

Abstract :

It seems India is undergoing a major change during last four years. There was a time when the national income of the economy was heavily contributed by agricultural sector. This was followed by manufacturing sector. The contribution of service was the lowest. This data pertains to the beginning of Five Year Plans of India. The trend started contributing in the first two decades of the present century and tenth, eleventh and twelve five year plan. After the end of Twelfth Five Year Plan the convention of half decade based plan has been stopped. Moreover, railways budget has been merged with the main budget. In the monetary sector, a major reform took place in order to curb black money and fake currency. This harsh reform was demonetization in the monetary sector. This has affected the money market and the LM curve of the economy. The second reform was the fiscal sector reform. The major tax reform is in the name of implementing goods and service tax (GST) in the fiscal sector. This has affected the product market and hence the IS curve of the economy. In addition a major act came in the construction sector in terms of real estate regulation Act (RERA). This has affected the construction sector which predominates in terms of employment in the tertiary sector. The purpose of this paper is to examine impact of sectoral reform on macroeconomic variables. The study is based on secondary sources of data published by government agencies. The study reaches to the conclusion that the economy has been troubled with these three reforms. As a result there has been macroeconomic instability in the economy. The growth rate has declined, the unemployment rate has gone up, consumption has also reduced, inflation rate has not sky rocketed. The sustainability of the economy has been badly shaken.

Sustainable development and approach of quality of life

Abstract:

Development will grant people with a new form of living security and hope. Besides, one of the major objectives for development is to ensure that the society who lives will experience a good quality of life by managing to fulfil the human needs. There are two central needs by inhabitants'; first, the biological needs that are essential to the survivalofthesociety and second, cultural requirements that are necessary for the functioning and growth of the residents of the development area. In order to fulfil the human needs, development has become an important tool to deliver the requirement of the society. However, intense development generates many demands on natural environment. Development is often cited as one of the major agent that has led to the transformation of the four main components of the natural environment -- land, water, air and biological aspects. Besides, developments often embark on a chain of result of environmental systems disruptions and ecological damage. In addition, if these requirements of human needs cannot be fulfilled or is below the minimum input, this situation tends to lead to the vulnerability of the society. Conflict between human needs and environmental sustainability has guided many authorities to engage sustainable development concept for the development planning. The concept of sustainable development was described by the 1987 Bruntland Commission Report as "development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs." Sustainable development is regarded as understanding the strength and links among the human needs and the environment. Improving quality of life of the society is the key for sustainable development. Thus, in order to improve quality of life appreciating the potential of development area such as improves land utilization; efficient use of resources as well as creating more opportunities to the society will be the catalyst to achieve sustainable development

Sustainable development-A challenge to Indian economy

Abstract :

The world economies have unified in their efforts to achieve the goals of sustainable development. This is in sheer contrast to the earlier approaches where governments pursued goals for the growth and development of their respective economies. The struggle for growth and excellence has created imbalance in the economic development among countries,depletedsomeofthenaturalresources has thus altered the ecological balance. The impact of this is being experienced in the form of global warming and climate change. Since this threatens the very existence of humanlifeonearth,acourse of action that would ensure a safe environment for future generations has become the need of the hour. Sustainable development is a term coined to ensure that development takes place in such a way that natural resources are sustained and passed on to the future generations unimpaired.This paper makes an attempt to understand the challenges encountered by India in achieving Sustainable development goals and offers suggestions to overcome them

Comparative Education : Issues and Challenges

ABSTRACT WITHIN 100 WORDS (12.04.2019)

This article takes an autobiographical approach, which is applied in order to devise a panorama of comparative Education, as it has developed during the past four decades. It identifies five "paradigms" which have been dominant in debates, inquiries and projects carried out by comparative educationists in various regions: East-West conflict, large-scale educational reforms, inter-cultural education in multicultural societies and gender issues, transformation processes and post-modern "revolt" against the predominant theories of modernity and universalism cultural pluralism. The changes of these paradigms have been stimulated by developments and trends in the socio-economic, political and cultural framework as well as by the continuous debates within the science. The current period seems to be primarily determined by the challenges to comparative education. ~~comparative studies may provide evidence for~~

Abstract of the Paper

Parasitic diseases are a significant public health concern worldwide, affecting millions of people. These diseases are caused by a variety of parasites, including protozoa, helminthes, and ectoparasites, which can infect human through various routes such as contaminated water, food, soil and vectors like mosquitoes and ticks. Parasitic diseases can lead to severe health issues, including anemia, malnutrition, organ damage and even death. Malaria, caused by the plasmodium parasite and transmitted by mosquitoes, remains one of the most deadly parasitic diseases. Other major parasitic diseases include schistosomiasis, Trypanosomiasis and leishmaniasis, which cause significant morbidity and mortality. Efforts to combat parasitic diseases include preventive measures such as vector control, improved sanitation and access to clean water. Public health initiatives also involves mass drug administration, vaccination campaigns and the development of new diagnostic tools and treatments.

AGRICULTURAL CRISIS IN INDIA – A CASE STUDY

Abstract:

Agricultue in India is undergoing a structural change leading to a crisis situation. The rate of growth of agricultural output is gradually declining in the recent years. The relative contribution of agriculture to the GDP has been declining over time steadily. It means that the income derived from these activities is not sufficient enough to meet the expenditure of the cultivators. And therefore, unless agriculture is made a profitable enterprise, the present crisis cannot be solved. The related factors responsible for the crisis include: dependence on rainfall and climate, liberal import of agricultural products, reduction in agricultural subsidies, lack of easy credit to agriculture and dependence on money lenders, decline in government investment in the agricultural sector and conversion of agricultural land for alternative uses. It is argued that the consequence of agricultural crisis in India is very vast and likely to hit all the other sectors and the national economy in several ways. In specific, it has adverse effects on food supply, prices of foodgrains, cost of living, health and nutrition, poverty, employment, labour market, land loss from agriculture and foreign exchange earnings. The only remedy to the crisis is to do all that is possible to make agriculture a profitable enterprise and attract the farmers to continue the crop production activities. As an effort towards this direction, the government should augment its investment and expenditure in the farm sector. Investment in agriculture and its allied sectors, including irrigation, transport, communication, rural market, rural infrastructure and farm research, should be drastically increased, and the government should aim at integrated development of the rural areas. The solution of the problem is not in a few "packages" but in drastic changes in the present economic policies related to agriculture. All farmers, agricultural labourers, societies, Government and People's Organisations should work collectively to revive agriculture and "Save India from Agriculture Crisis".

Abstract:

Before 2017, the people of India used to pay several indirect taxes for every transaction, such as purchasing, selling, manufacturing, retailing, marketing, etc, in the form of Value Added Tax (VAT), excise duty, service tax, central sales tax, entertainment tax, luxury tax, sales tax, etc. Former Union Finance Minister, P. Chidambaram, in his budget speech for 2006-07 broached the concept of 'Goods and Service Tax' (GST). On 29th March 2017, the GST Bill was passed by both houses of the parliament, followed by which on 1st July, 2017, the same had come into effect. GST is a single indirect tax proposed to replace all other indirect taxes, thereby reducing the burden of paying different indirect taxes. The introduction of GST facilitated the elimination of the cascading effect of indirect taxation and the concept of double taxation, thereby introducing a uniform regime governing indirect taxation in India. GST has been responsible for pushing the economy a step closer to a common market that involves the free movement of capital and services, making room for doing business in an easier way. This article aims to provide insight as to how GST has had an impact on the Indian economy and deliberates upon the need to revise GST rates and amendments that need to be made.

Abstract:

According to the statistics, it has seen that only few percentage of total population have access to the toilets. It is a programmer run by the government to seriously work to fulfill the vision of Father of Nation (Bapu) by calling the people from all walks of life to make it successful globally. Swachh Bharat Abhiyan is a national cleanliness campaign established by the Government of India. This campaign is covering 4041 statutory towns in order to clean roads, streets, and infrastructure of the India. It is a mass movement has run to create a Clean India by 2019. It is a step ahead to the Mahatma Gandhi's dream of Swachh Bharat for healthy and prosperous life. This mission was launched on 2nd of October 2014 (145th birth anniversary of Bapu) by targeting its completeness in 2019 on 150th birth anniversary of Bapu. The mission has been implemented to cover all the rural and urban areas of the India under the Ministry of Urban Development and the Ministry of Drinking Water and Sanitation accordingly the first cleanliness drive (on 25th of September 2014) of this mission was started by the Indian Prime Minister, Narendra Modi earlier to its launch. This mission has targeted to solve the sanitation problems as well as better waste management all over the India by creating sanitation facilities to all. Swachh Bharat mission is very necessary to run continuously in India until it gets its goal. It is very essential for the people in India to really get the feeling of physical, mental, social and intellectual well-being. It is to make living status advance in India in real means which can be started by bringing all over cleanliness. Below I have mentioned some points proving the urgent need of Swachh Bharat Abhiyan in India

6. Abstract of the paper-

The Earth's atmosphere, vital for sustaining life as we know it, faces a myriad of interconnected problems driven primarily by human activities. One of the most pressing issues is climate change, primarily induced by the accumulation of greenhouse gases such as carbon dioxide, methane, and nitrous oxide. These gases trap heat within the atmosphere, leading to global warming, altered weather patterns, rising sea levels, and increased frequency of extreme weather events.

Another significant challenge is air pollution, resulting from industrial activities, vehicle emissions, and agricultural practices. Pollutants such as particulate matter, nitrogen oxides, sulfur dioxide, and volatile organic compounds degrade air quality, posing serious health risks to humans, animals, and ecosystems. Ground-level ozone, a key component of smog, further exacerbates respiratory problems and damages crops.

The depletion of the ozone layer represents yet another critical issue. Human-made substances like chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) and halons release chlorine and bromine atoms, which catalytically destroy ozone molecules in the stratosphere. This depletion allows harmful ultraviolet (UV) radiation to penetrate the atmosphere, increasing the incidence of skin cancer, cataracts, and disruptions to marine ecosystems.

Additionally, the Earth's atmosphere faces challenges related to deforestation and land-use changes, which impact the balance of carbon dioxide and oxygen, disrupt ecosystems, and contribute to biodiversity loss. Acid rain, caused by emissions of sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides reacting with atmospheric moisture, damages forests, soils, and aquatic habitats.

Addressing these atmospheric problems requires coordinated international efforts, policy interventions, technological innovations, and changes in individual behavior. Transitioning to renewable energy sources, enhancing energy efficiency, adopting sustainable land-use practices, and promoting cleaner transportation are crucial steps toward mitigating these challenges and safeguarding the health and stability of our planet's atmosphere for future generations.

6. Abstract of the paper-

Nanotechnology, the manipulation of matter on an atomic and molecular scale, heralds a transformative era across various scientific disciplines and industries. At its core, nanotechnology offers unprecedented control over material properties, enabling the creation of novel structures and functionalities with remarkable precision.

One of the most intriguing aspects of nanotechnology is its interdisciplinary nature. Bridging the realms of physics, chemistry, biology, and engineering, it fosters collaboration among experts from diverse fields. This interdisciplinary approach has fueled breakthroughs in fields as varied as medicine, electronics, energy, and environmental science.

In medicine, nanotechnology holds promise for revolutionizing diagnostics, drug delivery, and therapy. Nanoscale materials and devices can target specific cells or tissues, enhancing the effectiveness of treatments while minimizing side effects. From cancer therapy to regenerative medicine, nanotechnology offers tailored solutions for complex medical challenges.

In electronics, the relentless drive towards miniaturization finds a natural ally in nanotechnology. Nanoscale materials such as carbon nanotubes and quantum dots enable the development of smaller, faster, and more energy-efficient electronic devices. From ultra-high-density storage to flexible displays and wearable electronics, the possibilities are limitless.

Energy is another area where nanotechnology is poised to make a significant impact. Nanomaterials are unlocking new possibilities for energy generation, storage, and conversion. From more efficient solar cells and lightweight batteries to advanced catalysts for fuel cells, nanotechnology promises to drive the transition towards a sustainable energy future.

Environmental applications of nanotechnology range from pollution remediation to water purification and beyond. Nanomaterial-based sensors can detect pollutants at ultra-low concentrations, while nanofiltration membranes offer efficient solutions for clean water access. By harnessing the unique properties of nanomaterials, environmental challenges can be addressed with unprecedented efficiency.

However, along with its immense potential, nanotechnology also raises ethical, societal, and safety concerns. Responsible development and deployment are essential to ensure the benefits of nanotechnology are realized while minimizing risks.

In summary, nanotechnology represents a frontier of scientific exploration with profound implications for society. By harnessing the power of the nanoscale, we have the opportunity to unlock new frontiers of knowledge and innovation, shaping a future where the impossible becomes achievable.

ABSTRACT WITHIN 100 WORDS (24-03-2018)

DERABISH COLLEGE KENDRAPARA ESTD-1981 DERABISH

ICT helps students to develop new skills and become more creative. ICT stimulates the development of imagination as well as initiative. It is a valuable tool for producing work. As ICT in education advances informatization, not only teachers who support learning but also students will be able to acquire knowledge, and skills of IT devices. Abstract of the Paper

Biodiversity, the variety of life forms in an ecosystem, is essential for the health and stability of the planet. It includes the diversity of species, genetic variation within species, and the variety of ecosystems that host complex interactions between organisms and their environment. Biodiversity provides critical ecosystem services such as pollination, nutrient cycling, soil formation, and climate regulation, which support human well-being and sustainable development. However, biodiversity is under significant threat from human activities such as habitat destruction, pollution, over-exploitation and climate change, leading to the loss of species and genetic diversity. To preserve biodiversity, conservation efforts must focus on protecting habitats, restoring degraded ecosystems and promoting sustainable practices across industries

SEMINAR ON
''CHANGING FAMILY STRUCTURE & ELDRLY CARE IN INDIA''
ORGANISED- BY''DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY'

Paper Presented- By-Sri G.C.Sethi'
H.O.D.DEPT OF SOCIOLOGY

Family is the basic social group be it a Nuclear or Joint Family,it is consist ordinarily of a man and a woman permanently united with one or more children, the traditional Indian society with an age old joint family system has been instrumental in safeguarding the social and economic security of the elderly people ,the traditional norms and values of the Indian society also laid stress on showing respect and providing care for the elderly .However with the emerging prevalence of the nuclear family set-up in the recent years to come, there is an upward trend in the living arrangement pattern of elderly staying alone or with spouse only from 9.0% in 1992.18.7%in 2000(5).Family care of the elderly seems likely to decrease in the future with the economic development of the nation and Modernisation.

ELDERLY-CARE.

Simply Elderly Care English speaking word as aged care is the fulfilment of the special needs and requirements as unique to senior citizens .Aging in India is exponentially increasing due to the impressive gain that security has made in terms of life expectancy with the rise in the elderly population which is estimated as 90 million of over age 60.The demand for the holistic care tends to grow by 2015.The geriatric population is expected to be 840 in the developing countries

1- It is projected that the proportion of the Indians aged 60 and older will rise from 7.5% in 2010 to 11.01% in2025.
2- An aging population puts an increased burden on the resources of a country has raised concern at many levels for the government in India .The aging population in both medical and Sociological problems. The Elderly population suffers high rate of morbidity and mortality due to the infection of diseases. The demographic transition in India shows

Principal

3- unevenness and complexities within different states. This has been attributed to the different levels of Socio-Economic development ,cultural norms and political contexts. Hence it will be a herculean task for policy makers to address the geriatric care that will take in to account to all these determinant care for the elderly in fast emerging as a critical element of both the public and private concern. This problems of the elderly need to be understood many of these problems the elderly tends to be cared for in a variety of settings daycares centere,,nursing homes, geriatric patient departments ,medical units, or intensive care units depending on the nature of the clinical problems, care of elderly necessitates addressing survival social issues .The needs and problems of the elderly very significant according to their age.Socio-Economic situation ,health living status and other such back ground characteristics for social rights are neglected and the are profoundly abused with goes unreported.

The elderly India are much more vulnerable because with increasing longevity and debilitating chronic diseases. Many elder citizens need better access to physical infrastructure is a major deterrent to the aged. So there is a need to initiate requisite and more appropriate social welfare programmes to ensure life with dignity for the elderly. In addition. There is also a need to develop an integrated and responsive system to meet the care needs and challenges of elderly in India.
